DANIEL YAMINI, MD, FACS

This 35-year old patient desired a curvier figure and was concerned about her "muffin top" and flat posterior. Dr. Yamini performed a Brazilian butt lift, starting with targeted liposuction around her hips, waist and thighs and then placed the removed fat strategically in the buttocks to give her fuller and perkier buttocks and more confidence.

STEVEN SVEHLAK, MD, FACS

This 32-year old patient felt like she had "bat wings." Wanting a more toned, firm appearance and to fit better in her tops, this patient asked Dr. Svehlak to perform an extended arm lift (brachioplasty) to remove the loose upper arm skin. The patient has reported feeling better about wearing sleeveless clothing and now enjoys a smooth, more toned look.

"pride in the way you look is priceless"

ABOUT DR. YAMINI AND DR. SVEHLAK

HOW WOULD YOU SUM UP THE SUNSET EXPERIENCE?

We want our patients to feel at ease and confident in their choice. The design of our office, our extensive experience and our non-pressured approach to consultations are all geared toward making each patient's experience here a positive one.

WHERE DO YOU PERFORM YOUR SURGERIES?

We use one of several state-of-the-art, fully accredited surgical centers in our building and only a select group of experienced anesthesiologists. Outpatient procedures, such as spot lipo cases, scar revisions, eyelid surgery, lip lifts or reductions, chin implants and facial fat grafting are often done in-office using local anesthesia.

WHAT ARE THE TOP THREE THINGS PATIENTS SHOULD LOOK FOR IN A SURGEON?

First, we recommend looking for someone board-certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery. Second, the surgeon should have before-and-after photos that you like for the procedure you are considering. Finally, go in for a consultation and make sure you feel confident with the surgeon's recommendations.

Beat the bikini blues

"The top three concerns I hear from patients who come in for body sculpting are: loose skin, fat bulges, and cellulite," reveals Dr. Steven Svehlak, a double board-certified plastic surgeon. "The body's tendency to develop cellulite and fat in certain areas, or the way a body recovers from a pregnancy is hereditary to a certain extent," adds Dr. Yamini, also a double board-certified plastic surgeon. Sunset addresses all three concerns with a variety of body-sculpting procedures, from mommy makeovers and tummy tucks to liposuction and Brazilian butt lifts. "We use several technologies for liposuction, allowing us to customize the results for each patient. A one-size-fits-all approach would not be adequate for the kind of results we strive for here," says Dr. Svehlak, who uses Cellulaze™, a laser cellulite reduction technology, among other methods. "Many of our smaller lipo cases can be done on an outpatient basis in a matter of an hour or two using local anesthetic," says Dr. Yamini, "which allows for a really rapid recovery."
